FROM THE DESK OF FATHER DAVIS

Years ago, when I went away to college, I developed great friendships. I had met people from all over the country and all over the world that I came to treasure greatly. Those friends enriched my life tremendously. We shared a lot of great moments along the journey of four years. I came to enjoy, away from home, what I termed as “family away from family.” Having journeyed together through the thick and thin of things, the insecurities and struggles, the hard work and self-discovery, and the challenges of discernment and making future plans, not to mention the demands and rigors of shared academia, we had all come to know each other very well. When the day of graduation came, of course, some four years later, it was a day of mixed emotions. There was delight in the moment of achievement. It was a personal glory moment to graduate with honors. But, it was also somewhat of a sad moment. All of us, friends, who were companions on the journey, who would now be going back to our respective parts of the country and begin to live our lives, may never be seeing each other ever again. When such moments happen in life, when you know you are never going to see someone again, words become fewer; they are from the heart; indeed, they become more profound. They etch themselves in our memories, sometimes in our very souls.

This weekend we celebrate the Ascension of the Lord. Forty days after his Resurrection, he leaves the Apostles, gloriously ascending before their eyes, never again to relate to them in that kind of privileged and distinctive way as they had come to experience him during that post-Easter period. In this context, at the moment of departure, Jesus gives them his final words. Indeed, they are his final instructions. Everything is summarized. Words became fewer. They came from his heart. The Apostles never forgot them. Jesus told them: go baptize, observe the commandments, and know that “I” am with you always. These instructions became the “soul” of the Church’s very identity, its impetus for evangelization. Jesus’ final words, as he ascended into heavenly glory, became the Church’s final “marching orders.” They are the essentials of a Church that evangelizes in the name of the Risen Christ even today.

On the bottom of the front cover of our parish bulletin, can be found our “mission statement,” a direct outflow of our foundational faith in Christ. We are here “together, worshipping the Lord, forming disciples, and serving in the name of Jesus.” All of our efforts are ultimately assessed in the light of Jesus’ own final instructions to the nascent Church on that Mount of Ascension many years ago. Our efforts as contemporary followers of Jesus become credible when we are seeking the salvation of souls by drawing people to the saving Sacraments of Christ. Our authenticity becomes evident when our own lives are grounded in the virtues found “in the good book,” the Bible, the Commandments, and a way of life consonant with God and godliness. We are given confidence in these efforts, because Jesus has assured us of his abiding presence, i.e., “I will be with you always, even until the end of the age.” Sometimes we continue onward, unaware, as the disciples on the Road to Emmaus, who initially did not recognize the Lord even as he journeyed by their side on the way. Yet, in a discipleship which is credible, our spiritual eyes will be sharp to interpret the journey of life and its spiritual significance, knowing that the Risen Lord is with his Church and is with his people, always.

Today, on the Solemnity of the Ascension, may we double down, and take confidence in his profound final instructions to us. May our identity and evangelizational purpose become clear, as we allow the “marching orders” of the Risen Christ to be etched in our souls.

DEL ESCRITORIO DEL PADRE DAVIS

Hace años, cuando fui a la universidad, desarrollé grandes amistades. Conocí a personas de todo el país y de todo el mundo que atesoré enormemente. Esos amigos enriquecieron mi vida tremendamente. Compartimos muchos momentos grandes a lo largo de la jornada de cuatro años. Vine a disfrutar, lejos de mi hogar, lo que denominé "la familia lejos de la familia". Habiendo viajado juntos en las altas y bajas, las inseguridades y luchas, el trabajo arduo y el autodescubrimiento y los desafíos del discernimiento y los planes para el futuro, sin mencionar las demandas y los rigores de la academia compartida, todos nos conocimos muy bien. Cuando llegó el día de la graduación unos cuatro años después, por supuesto que fue un día de emociones mezcladas. Hubo deleite en el momento del logro. Fue un momento de gloria personal graduarse con honores. Pero, también fue un momento algo triste. Todos nosotros, amigos, que fuimos compañeros en la jornada, que ahora regresaríamos a nuestras respectivas partes del país y comenzaríamos a vivir nuestras vidas, nunca volveríamos a vernos. Cuando ocurren esos momentos en la vida, cuando sabes que nunca volverás a ver a alguien, las palabras se vuelven menos; de hecho, son del corazón; se vuelven más profundas. Se graban en nuestros recuerdos, a veces en nuestras almas.

Este fin de semana celebramos la Ascensión del Señor. Cuarenta días después de su Resurrección, deja a los apóstoles, ascendiendo gloriosamente ante sus ojos, para nunca más relacionarse con ellos de esa manera privilegiada y distintiva, como lo habían experimentado durante ese período posterior a la Pascua. En este contexto, en el momento de la partida, Jesús les da sus últimas palabras. De hecho, son sus instrucciones finales. Todo está resumido. Las palabras se hicieron menos. Vinieron de su corazón. Los apóstoles nunca las olvidaron. Jesús les dijo: vayan a bautizar, observen los mandamientos y sepan que "Yo" estoy con ustedes siempre. Estas instrucciones se convirtieron en el "alma" de la identidad misma de la Iglesia, su ímpetu para la evangelización. Las últimas palabras de Jesús, mientras ascendía a la gloria celestial, se convirtieron en las últimas "órdenes de marcha" de la Iglesia. Son lo esencial de una Iglesia que evangeliza en el nombre de Cristo resucitado incluso hoy.

En la parte inferior de la portada de nuestro boletín parroquial, se puede encontrar la "declaración de nuestra misión", una efusión directa de nuestra fe fundamental en Cristo. Estamos aquí "juntos, adorando al Señor, formando discípulos y sirviendo en el nombre de Jesús". Todos nuestros esfuerzos se evalúan a la luz de las instrucciones finales de Jesús a la Iglesia naciente en ese Monte de la Ascensión hace muchos años. Nuestros esfuerzos como seguidores contemporáneos de Jesús se vuelven creíbles cuando buscamos la salvación de las almas al atraer a las personas a los Sacramentos salvadores de Cristo. Nuestra autenticidad se hace evidente cuando nuestras propias vidas se basan en las virtudes que se encuentran "en el buen libro", la Biblia, los Mandamientos y en una forma de vida en consonancia con Dios y la piedad. Tenemos confianza en estos esfuerzos, porque Jesús nos ha asegurado su presencia permanente, es decir, "Estaré contigo siempre, incluso hasta el final de la era". Algunas veces seguimos adelante, sin saberlo, como los discípulos en el Camino a Emaús, quienes inicialmente no reconocieron al Señor incluso mientras viajaban a su lado por el camino. Sin embargo, en un discipulado creíble, nuestros ojos espirituales serán eficaces para interpretar la jornada de la vida y su significado espiritual, sabiendo que el Señor Resucitado está con su Iglesia y está con su gente, siempre.

Hoy, en la Solemnidad de la Ascensión, que nos podamos fortalecer y confiar en sus instrucciones profundas y finales para nosotros. Que nuestra identidad y nuestro propósito de evangelización sean claros, mientras permitimos que las "órdenes de marcha" de Cristo Resucitado se graben en nuestras almas.

AVE MARIA BUS TRIP PHOTOS NOW ONLINE

Last Wednesday, May 22nd, the Little Flower Pilgrimage Ministry had another wonderful outing to Ave Maria University. Making this trip extra special was that many of the Staff here at Little Flower were able to attend along with Fr. Davis, Fr. Flores and more than forty other pilgrims. After our delightful trip west on Alligator Alley we were greeted upon arrival by none other than Fr. Piotr Paciorek, who spent time as a priest here at COTLF in 2012.

The pilgrims were given a tour of the chapel, church, library and were also able to visit the Mother Teresa Museum. The morning concluded with the celebration of the Holy Eucharist as our group joined the members of the Ave Maria community for Mass which was presided by our very own Father Davis. Little Flower also gave the community of Ave Maria a glimpse of our wonderful Music Ministry as Luis Cuza provided music during the liturgy.

We concluded with a wonderful Italian lunch at Gino's Trattoria Per Tutti which was delicious. More pictures of the day can be seen at our parish website by clicking on the Ave Maria Pilgrimage folder. Be on the lookout for information about our next trip which we are already hard at work planning!
