FROM FR. ANDREW'S DESK

Independence Day is about far more than hot dogs, fireworks, and baseball. It isn't just the premier summer holiday in the American cultural landscape. The United States of America turns 247 years old this week, a blink in the time spans that other nations celebrate as their history. Yet, we know this country to be unique in many ways. This is the first modern republic that came of age in an era of monarchy. It is the land of hope for countless immigrants over the decades, including many of us in this parish and certainly our ancestors. There is much for which we must thank God on this Independence Day.

The Catholic contribution to this nation and the contribution of this nation to the Catholic Church is one of the underrated, little known truths of history that deserves its time in the limelight. The relationship between the Catholic Church and the United States has historically been complicated. Only a generation ago, John F. Kennedy had to ward off political attacks claiming that he would be a puppet of the Vatican while in the White House. Al Smith before him fared far worse. The immigrant Church of the 19th century was the constant victim of discrimination that at its worst devolved into violence. Catholics were excluded from places of prestige, denied employment opportunities, and made to stay in segregated places. That environment was what led to the great building of Catholic institutions in the early 20th century as Catholics sought to make their mark on society.

Yet not all was antagonistic between Catholics and the nation they loved. Charles Carroll of Maryland was the only Catholic signer of the Declaration of Independence. His cousin, John Carroll, was the first bishop in the United States for the Archdiocese of Baltimore. The immigrant communities brought their Catholic faith with them as they built America's great cities from the Northeast all the way to the West and the South. Great American saints, such as St. Katherine Drexel, St. John Neumann, and St. Frances Xavier Cabrini ministered to this immigrant church. The bishops in the United States contributed greatly to the Vatican and were highly influential at the First and Second Vatican Councils. Vatican II's declaration on religious liberty, Dignitatis Humanae, was the brainchild of the American church whose draft was known as "the American schema" before being ratified by the Council. I could recount many more similar examples. I haven't even mentioned the social impact of the Catholic Church on American society from Boys Town to Operation Pedro Pan.

This week we commemorate our beloved nation and thank God for her. We also thank God for our Catholic faith which allows us to love God and Country. We share the burden of "creating a more perfect union" along with our brothers and sisters of different faiths and beliefs. Brothers and sisters, we are called to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. That starts right here in the United States of America. Like those who came before us, from the very first settlers in St. Augustine, Florida to those who built our local church in Miami, we walk with Christ by our side. These United States need our Catholic witness. Our Catholic Church needs our American experience. Happy Independence Day!

Fr. Andrew

DEL ESCRITORIO DEL PADRE ANDREW

El Día de la Independencia es mucho más que perros calientes, fuegos artificiales y béisbol. No es solo la principal fiesta de verano en el panorama cultural estadounidense. Estados Unidos de América cumple 247 años esta semana, un parpadeo en los lapsos de tiempo que otras naciones celebran como su historia. Sin embargo, sabemos que este país es único en muchos sentidos. Esta es la primera república moderna que alcanzó la mayoría de edad en una era de monarquía. Es la tierra de esperanza para innumerables inmigrantes a lo largo de las décadas, incluidos muchos de nosotros en esta parroquia y ciertamente nuestros antepasados. Hay mucho por lo que debemos agradecer a Dios en este Día de la Independencia.

La contribución católica a esta nación y la contribución de esta nación a la Iglesia Católica es una de las verdades subestimadas y poco conocidas de la historia que merece su tiempo en el centro de atención. La relación entre la Iglesia Católica y los Estados Unidos ha sido históricamente complicada. Hace solo una generación, John F. Kennedy tuvo que evitar ataques políticos alegando que sería un títere del Vaticano mientras estuviera en la Casa Blanca. Al Smith antes que él le fue mucho peor. La Iglesia inmigrante del siglo 19 fue la víctima constante de la discriminación que en su peor momento se convirtió en violencia. Los católicos fueron excluidos de lugares de prestigio, se les negaron oportunidades de empleo y se les obligó a permanecer en lugares segregados. Ese ambiente fue lo que llevó a la gran construcción de instituciones católicas a principios del siglo 20, ya que los católicos buscaban dejar su huella en la sociedad.

Sin embargo, no todo era antagónico entre los católicos y la nación que amaban. Charles Carroll de Maryland fue el único firmante católico de la Declaración de Independencia. Su primo, John Carroll, fue el primer obispo en los Estados Unidos para la Arquidiócesis de Baltimore. Las comunidades de inmigrantes trajeron su fe católica con ellos mientras construían las grandes ciudades de Estados Unidos desde el noreste hasta el oeste y el sur. Grandes santos estadounidenses, como Santa Catalina Drexel, San Juan Neumann y Santa Francisca Xavier Cabrini ministraron a esta iglesia inmigrante. Los obispos en los Estados Unidos contribuyeron en gran medida al Vaticano y fueron muy influyentes en los Concilios Vaticano I y II. Declaración del Vaticano II sobre la libertad religiosa, Dignitatis Humanae, fue una creación de la iglesia estadounidense cuyo borrador fue conocido como "el esquema americano" antes de ser ratificado por el Concilio. Podría contar muchos más ejemplos similares. Ni siquiera he mencionado el impacto social de la Iglesia Católica en la sociedad estadounidense desde Boys Town hasta la Operación Pedro Pan.

Esta semana conmemoramos a nuestra amada nación y damos gracias a Dios por ella. También damos gracias a Dios por nuestra fe católica que nos permite amar a Dios y a la Patria. Compartimos la carga de "crear una unión más perfecta" junto con nuestros hermanos y hermanas de diferentes religiones y creencias. Hermanos y hermanas, estamos llamados a ser la sal de la tierra y la luz del mundo. Eso comienza aquí mismo en los Estados Unidos de América. Al igual que aquellos que vinieron antes que nosotros, desde los primeros colonos en St. Augustine, Florida hasta aquellos que construyeron nuestra iglesia local en Miami, caminamos con Cristo a nuestro lado. Estos Estados Unidos necesitan nuestro testimonio católico. Nuestra Iglesia Católica necesita nuestra experiencia estadounidense. ¡Feliz Día de la Independencia!

Padre Andrew

“This Is My Body”

THE SHOCKING TRUTH

Jesus said, “Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life.” This teaching was so shocking that many of his followers left at that moment! Jesus did not call them back to clarify, because he knew they understood correctly. He was actually telling them to eat his flesh and drink his blood.

As Catholics, we believe Jesus’ words literally, not symbolically. The substance of the bread and wine transform into the Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity of Jesus Christ at every Mass. We call this miracle the Eucharist.

Saint Charles Lwanga

Saint Charles Lwanga learned about God and taught others about God. He protected boys who were told that they couldn't believe in God and was martyred because he kept teaching about God.

Have you met Coogie the Dumpster Cat

A s a kitten in 2017, he was abandoned in a Miami dumpster and brought to me by a friend who knew I rescued strays. Now, he is the STAR of his own children's book series that I am writing and donating my profits to charity.

A s fate would have it, Coogie was most likely born on July 7th, the day my late husband went to Heaven. I truly believe he was sent to help me through that incredible loss.

Now, together, we are "paying it forward" to help others.
